

Callers claiming to be from Nebraska Tourism are scammers

The Nebraska Tourism Commission is alerting the tourism industry about a phone scam. People have reported receiving calls from a representative claiming to be with Nebraska Tourism. The caller says he (or she) is verifying information for the next Nebraska Travel Guide and that listings in the guide will now cost $599. He is quite convincing and persuasive. However, he is not affiliated with Nebraska Tourism in any way. The Commission does not charge for inclusion in its Travel Guide. DO NOT give the caller any money or credit card information.

The Nebraska Tourism Commission does have an intern, Megan, calling to collect 2012 attendance information. We invite you to share that information with her. She will not be asking for money.
